

WOODWARD
LEWIS

Facilitating change – positively and effectively

Nick Lewis BA (Hons), FCCA

Specialises in long-term projects and interim management, primarily in the public sector. Nick has been part of highly successful project teams delivering major programmes in the Ministry of Defence and the Home Office, and has also been a key part of teams setting up new agencies and shared service centres. He has been part of the team setting up the new shared services centre for HM Prison Service at Newport, Gwent, which saved millions of pounds in its first year of operation.

He has acted as Resources and Financial Director, developing strategy, goals and performance management frameworks, and managing partner organisations.

Specialist Skills

- Change management and enterprise transformation within private sector and public sector organisations.
- BaaN ERP
- Start Ups including Outsourcing
- Benefits Realisation
- Risk Management
- Knowledge of PRINCE2 and RAB Accounting
- Sales and Operations Planning
- Supply Chain Management
- Transfer Pricing and International Finance
- Implementation of Activity Based Costing within a public sector organisation and implementation of Sales & Operations Planning within both private and public sector organisations
- Project management within fast moving environments

- Building and establishing relationships quickly within client organisations, experience of working with civil servants and armed service personnel
- Strategic and financial planning.

Qualifications

- BA Business Studies – Nottingham Trent University
- Fellow of the Chartered Association of Certified Accountants
- EFQM Excellence Model assessor
- Post-qualification ACCA courses in strategic planning, business development and change management; courses in Six Sigma and risk management
- Trained as a PD facilitator